A number of Rushville merchants, it was announced today, would give away merchandise to the value of more than a thousand dollars during next week when the Centennial, Home Coming and Fall Festival will be held here.

Every business firm which has agreed to offer something as a special Centennial week gift, will have a box in its store where anyone may leave his or her name. Then during Centennial week there will be a drawing and the first name out of the box will be awarded the prize which that particular firm has offered.

This plan means that the people of Rush county are to be the beneficiaries of the generosity of Rushville merchants. There are no strings whatever to the offer. Everything is absolutely free. A person does not have to make a purchase in order to "get your name in the pot." Any one may have a chance at the more than a thousand dollars worth of gifts. The names of the firms and what they will give away will be announced tomorrow.

The chairman of the old relics committee announced today that there would be a full meeting of the committee Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the public library in the court house. It is most urgently requested that every member of the committee be present.

The chairman of the committee stated today that the committee has received a lot of old relics that are of great worth, but that the committee is short on firearms. Not a single curio in the shape of a weapon of defense that harks back

Mr. Cox's Friends are Active in His Support and Believe he is Sure to Win

Tampah Tribe No. 102, the local order of the Improved Order of Red Men, will have a special meeting at their Wigwam on Tuesday evening to make final arrangements for the tour of this county in the interests of the candidacy of Miles S. Cox of this city who is the county's candidate for Great Keeper of Wampum before the coming session of the Great Council to be held in Indianapolis on October 17th.

The members of the local tribe are enthusiastic in their support of the candidate and it is the desire to have the members of the other tribes in the county to assist by sending large delegations.

CITY FIRE WAGON
UPSETS AT TURN

Firemen Thrown Off When Vehicle Turns Over at Corner of Main and Tenth.

DRAG HOSE TO SCENE OF FIRE

While making a run to the home of Michael O'Riely about 3:45 o'clock this afternoon, the city fire department's wagon upset in making the turn at Tenth and Main streets, broke the tongue out, smashed one of the wheels of the wagon and threw several firemen off.

The firemen managed in some way to get the hose to the O'Riely home, where a hay stack was on fire, and were soon throwing water.

None of the firemen was hurt in the accident. Driver John Willis succeeded in holding the horses.

A horse, which George Feaster and James Brown were driving in West Eighth street last night, was thrown when one side of the shaft came loose and suffered a broken left leg. The horse belonged to George Brown father of the Brown boy, who lives on Dagler's farm.

KILLS MAN AND
HORSE ON TRACK

I. and C. Special Car Horribly Mangles John Rawlins of Indianapolis Saturday Night

DRIVER EVIDENTLY ASLEEP

Horse Wanders Off Road on to Right-of-Way in Front of Interurban—Hard to Identify John Rawlins, South Vitter Avenue, Indianapolis, was instantly killed by an empty special on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's lines near Indianapolis between eleven and twelve o'clock Saturday night.

Rawlins had apparently gone to sleep and his horse had started down the right-of-way ahead of the car. The accident happened near a new road west of Hawthorn stop on the Brookville road.

The man could not be identified Saturday night because his body was so badly mangled. The remains were taken to the morgue in Indianapolis and identified yesterday.

The special had been to Shelbyville and had left there at 9:35 to haul the Indianapolis News' newsboys' band back to Indianapolis. The band had been taken to its destination and the special was returning to the car barns here when the accident happened.

Rawlins was riding in a light spring wagon, and judging from the wreckage, he had a load of vegetables. The wagon was reduced to kindling and the horse was instantly killed.

Rawlins' body was so terribly mangled that the remains had to be gathered up. It was some time before the body of the horse was found several feet from the track.

The first report was that there were two men in the wagon and that the body of the second man could not be found, but this was later found to be untrue.

The accident caused the 11:30 car out of Indianapolis Saturday night to be delayed for more than an hour, the car not reaching here until two o'clock Sunday morning. There were a number of Rushville people on the car.

The news had reached the junction when the regular car arrived there and it was detained until the special could get back. The air brakes on the special were broken and it was hitched on to the end of the regular and pulled home.

Joe Woods of Arlington was the motorman and Elmer Heck of Shelbyville was the conductor. It was the first accident Woods had ever had in his more than two years of service as a motorman.

Walter Shockley is Accused of Assault and Battery and Drawing Revolver on Wife

TRIAL IS SET FOR TONIGHT

Walter (Hollyhock) Shockley was arraigned before Mayor Bebout this morning on charges of assault and battery and of drawing deadly weapons. The charges were preferred by his wife, Alberta Shockley. He was arrested last night about 9:30 o'clock after she had called the police, complaining that he had beaten her. She charges that he drew a revolver on her Saturday night. Shockley pleaded not guilty to both charges and the trial was set for tonight at eight o'clock.

The Shockleys recently moved here from Connersville. A short time before moving to this city he was fined in the mayor's court there for beating his wife. The Shockleys reside in West Second street.

90 MACHINES IN CARAVAN

James P. Goodrich, Republican candidate for governor, in his tour of Fayette county, touched at points in the edge of Rush county today. The crowd of more than four hundred people that toured Fayette county ate dinner at Glenwood and the biggest meeting of the day was held at Orange this afternoon when an old-fashioned pole-raising was held.

Enthusiasm was unbounded when the automobile caravan moved into Glenwood between twelve and one o'clock. There were ninety automobiles in the party when the delegation arrived at Glenwood. The women of the Glewood M. E. church served dinner at the A. L. Chew building at noon.

After the Glenwood meeting, the crowd went on over to Orange, being joined by many Glenwood Republicans. A large crowd went to Orange from here this afternoon. Judge W. D. Comstock of Richmond, candidate for congress, spoke at all of the Fayette county meetings.

The Gem will show the five act drama "The Grip of Jealousy" for the program tonight. Louise Lovely is featured. It is said to be a play that will hold the interest of all and it has a good strong punch. Tomorrow, matinee and night the next installment of "Peg O' the Ring," will be shown.

The Princess offers the five reel feature "Sudden Riches" for the program tonight. Robert Warwick, Clara Whipple and Gerda Holmes are featured. It tells the story of a young man who is suddenly possessed of great wealth. It is given him for the purpose of ruining him. The story is a novel one and the acting is fine. Tomorrow, matinee and night "The Waters of Lethe" will be shown.

"The Unborn" is the title of a new five reel picture which will be the attraction at the Mystic Theater on Thursday, with Gertrude Bondhill, the well-known star, featured with a cast of unusual strength.

The story was written by George Eliot, Jr., and was produced in Colorado and New York City. It is a moral propaganda of unusual strength and yet embodies a tenderness of love and affection that makes for it a picture far out of the ordinary. It is not a worn out, hackneyed theme discussed as it is a frank and delicate manner—birth control. There is a moral to "The Unborn," and yet it does not tire or bore. It holds the audience throughout the entire five reels of production.

The Unhappy Farmer

Ex-Secretary James Wilson has pointed out, in an able argument, how "the farmer will pay the freight" under the Wilson-Adamson railway wage-increase law; and now, from another source, comes information that Carranza, whom President Wilson has held up to admiration as a man "with whose high ideals all right thinking men the world over must sympathize," has turned his attention from shooting railway strikers on sight to holding up American farmers. Mr. Carranza does not believe it practicable to invade this country and levy tribute on the farmers personally, but he has accomplished his end by establishing a sisal monopoly which will take $20,000,000 out of the pockets of those American farmers who have to buy binding twine. A delegation representing the manufacturers of binding twine have laid the facts before Secretary Lansing, pointing out how American farmers are being maimed by Carranza, and Secretary Lansing has had the nerve to tell the delegation that he will refer the matter to the New London Conference which, as Carranza has formally announced, is expressly prohibited from considering any of the internal affairs of Mex-

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, then Back hurts and Bladder bothers you.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LITTLE BITS OF INDIANA POLITICS

Now that Wilson and Marshall have the official word of their renomination, all they have to do is to sit around and wait for the sad news on Nov. 7.

Vice-President Marshall says he is the tail to the presidential kite. Alas, how many kites have been wrecked by a poorly constructed, ill-fitting, wobbling tail!

We have it from Vice President Marshall that the Democrats have waived their ancient views as to a tariff commission. Yes, indeed; they are willing to make any port in a storm. Next thing you know they will declare for protection!

In 1908, under a Republican administration, the per capita cost of maintaining the Boys School at Plainfield was $49.85 a year, and in 1915, under the present Democratic administration of Guy C. Hanna, it has jumped to $100.71 a year. The voters should know that this difference has gone into the pockets of "deserving Democrats" for salaries and wages!

The cost of real estate and rental in Indiana has steadily increased for several years. This is a serious problem, and is due, largely, to the fact that real estate is obliged, under the present laws, to bear an unjust proportion of the burden of taxation. This requires the small home owner to pay a larger proportionate share of taxes than wealthy bond holders, and requires the person who rents a home to pay an additional rent in order to make up the taxation for the landlords. Under the plan outlined by James P. Goodrich, Republican nominee for governor, this system will be changed, and the burden of taxation more equally distributed.

Rifles Turn Up

Despite President Wilson's idealization of Carranza at New London, and the solemn announcement of the War Department, after the Carranza affair, that when Carranza returned those troopers of the 10th Cavalry whom he had not shot he also returned their equipment as well, the highly interesting fact has now come to light that in a recent skirmish between United States troops and Carranzistas who were raiding American territory one of the rifles captured by the Americans bears the U. S. Arsenal stamp and figures "K 10." These show, of course, that the rifle was one captured from the 10th Cavalry; that when Carranza asserted that he had returned all the equipment captured at Carrizal he did not tell the truth—or that when the War Department announced that all the equipment had been returned it was pursuing that policy of "pitiless publicity" which means "adroitly deceiving the American people."

The great street car strike, which threatened to tie up all New York transportation and involve all allied, organized trades, has apparently proved a failure. This seems to be due in large measure, to the revulsion of popular feeling which has resulted from President Wilson's action with regard to the railway wage controversy. The labor leaders, doubtless wisely, perceived that popular sentiment, formerly with the employes, had turned against them, and the calling off of the strike is believed to be only a matter of a few days.

A CONTEST OF CHARACTER, NOT OF WEASEL WORDS

Cardinal Question In This Campaign Is Whether the People Want In the White House a Phrase Maker or a Man Who Backs Words With Deeds.

Woodrow Wilson excels in the artistry of politics beyond the capacity of Charles Evans Hughes to compete. Were the current campaign a game of professional politics instead of a contest of character between two candidates for the highest office in the gift of the people Mr. Wilson would walk away with the prize next November. All his life he has made a study of form—first of literary form—and latterly of political form. In the first period he mastered a style peculiarly his own and peculiarly characteristic. The study of words and their multiplicity of meaning always fascinates him, so much that a Princeton classmate recently said of him, "Tommy has lived with words so long he thinks they are real things." Thence comes his collection of what Theodore Roosevelt's Maine guide calls "weasel words." That is—"he can take a word and weasel it around and suck the meaning out of it like a weasel sucks an egg, until it don't mean anything at all, no matter what it sounds like it means." Thence came also the series of catch phrases, so fascinating in sound, so false in suggestion; so easy to read, so hard to understand. So it is that he is able to be on all sides of every public question while covering his circuitous course with a flow of words that roll as easily from his pen as a brook through the meadow. It is his artfulness in the use of words that enables him to pose as "an amateur in politics" while playing the game with the skill of a professional. Whatever his ineptitude in other respects, he is easily first among presidents in the artistry of politics, and he would win next November were that the test.

Compare the williness of Mr. Wilson with the straightforwardness of Mr. Hughes. Compare the smooth style of the one with the rugged diction of the other. The one is as complex in the use of words as the other is simple. It is a case of sonorosity versus strength. Mr. Hughes is depending upon the strategy of straightforwardness and the strength of sincerity; upon the force of facts instead of upon the fiction of a phrase, to win his case before the jury of the nation. His appeal is to the head and not the ear of the people; to their intelligence and not to their emotion; to their heroic side and not to their hysterical side. It is an appeal to the courage of the country and not to its cowardice. Mr. Hughes could not if he would perform in a year the political tricks that Mr. Wilson can do in a day. The question today is whether the people want in the White House for the next four years a phrase maker or a history maker, a man of many sayings or a man who backs his words with deeds. There is a fundamental difference between the two candidates which marks the line of cleavage in this extraordinary campaign—"Hughes means what he says."

LABOR VOTE NOT DELIVERABLE

This Is the Outstanding Fact Which Political Philosophers Deduce From the Defeat in Maine of Representative McGillicuddy.

From among the numerous lessons or conclusions which the political philosophers can draw from the Maine election one lesson or conclusion stands out more sharply defined than any other. It jumps at you.

The labor vote, for the sake of which the Poltroon Congress tarred and feathered itself with its own hands only a dozen days ago, is not deliverable by traders who pretended to sell it.

This salient fact of the election is illustrated conspicuously in the Second Congress district. There are few places within the confines of our republic where labor is relatively stronger than in the city of Lewiston, the home city of Representative McGillicuddy, and he has made a specialty of it in his own political practice. In the Second Maine, if anywhere, would there be indications of any return, in the shape of votes, for the surrender of Congress to the four Brotherhoods. After a campaign which might almost be called desperate in its effort to save McGillicuddy and one Democratic seat in the House from the Republican onset, Mr. McGillicuddy was defeated by an adverse plurality of nearly 40, whereas he had been elected to the Sixty-second Congress by a plurality of 1,389 and to the Sixty-third by 1,281.

IDEALS OF THE SUCCESS OF THE PLAIN PEOPLE.

"If I did not believe that the Republican party was the party of true progress, which was prepared under its leadership to take the country along the way of adaptation to new needs and exigencies of the future, I should have no pride in representing it. But the party of Lincoln is reunited today, and we consecrate it to the ideals of Lincoln, and those ideals are permanent. These are the ideals of the success of the plain people. They are the ideals of the achievements under free institutions, of success in all the activities of the co-operative energy of the plain people."—Charles E. Hughes in a Speech Delivered at Plattsburgh, N. Y.

DETROIT'S IMPRESSIONS OF A MAN.

Governor Hughes' visit to Detroit opened the presidential campaign of 1916, and if we may forecast the events that are to follow by the omens of Monday we would prognosticate an intensely warm, vivid and humanly interesting period in the next few months.

Setting aside the auspices of meteorological conditions in this preview of the future—although they are approved by numerous professional augurs and by a host of commonality as well—we base this prophecy on the characteristics of the candidate whose too brief stay with us has been enjoyed by all with whom he came into contact.

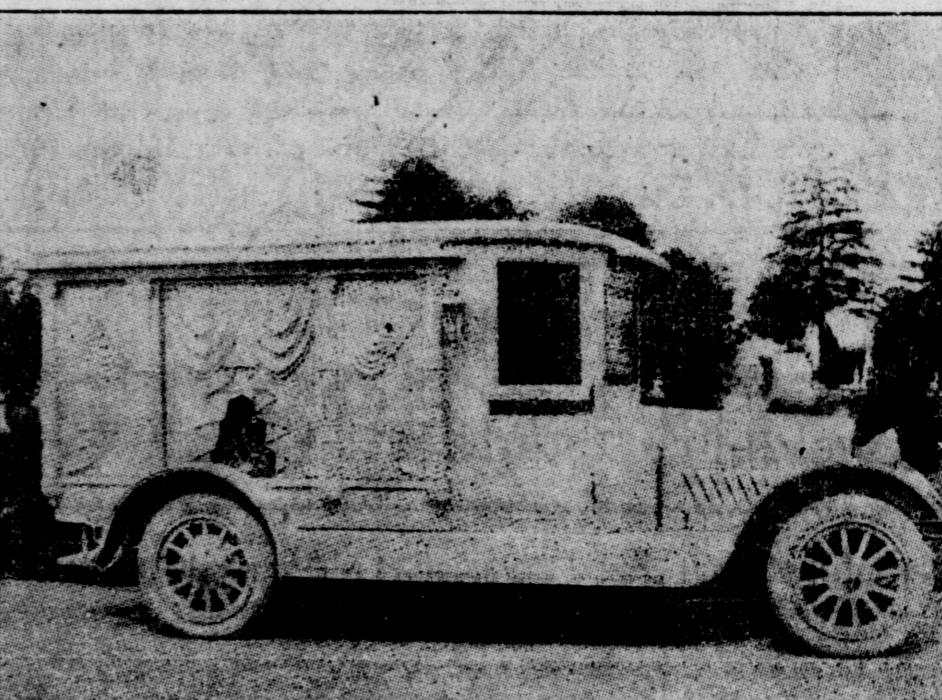

The misguided individuals who have been expecting Charles E. Hughes would prove to be a cold proposition and therefore easy to beat are in for a shock that will make them think they have been hit by an unstrung trolley wire. There is nothing cold about Mr. Hughes, Detroit has learned.

He is about as intensely human a piece of humanity as ever captured the hearts of a crowd, and the more people in the United States he meets between now and November the more votes will be cast for him. As a campaigner he is a revelation. He likes his fellow beings, and they like him because they see he likes them.

And what his personality begins his remarkable powers of intellect and utterance finish. He drives his points home with tremendous force. What he says sticks. There are thousands of Americans today who can retell every step in the arguments he made eight years ago on the Bryan trust policy, yet in 1908 Mr. Hughes was not especially a prominent figure and there was no particular reason why his address more than others should have remained clearly in the memory except the gift of the man to send his own thoughts so deep into the brains of others. They are clear in his own mind first, undoubtedly. He knows precisely what he wants to say because he has reasoned it out before he speaks it out. Probably that has something to do with the ease with which he conveys his meaning.

But it is a very rare quality he possesses in his ability to master subjects so thoroughly as to make the most abstruse simple to himself and his hearers. It is a quality eminently desirable in a political candidate. It is infinitely more to be desired in the president of a great country like the United States.

Detroit's impression of Charles E. Hughes is all favorable. The thousands of people who have studied him at close range are convinced that if he is elected president next November he will be a great president, one of the greatest this nation has known, worthy to stand in history with George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, a custodian of the republic's fate to whom that fate may confidently be intrusted. If that conviction is shared by the people of other states whom he is still to meet the outcome of his swing around the great American circle cannot fail to be propitious for him.—Detroit Free Press.

You will find, in all probability, an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding between the crevices. YOUR DENTIFRICE does not FULLY CLEAN! Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the recently discovered formula of a dental specialist, is two-fold in its action. First, it REALLY CLEANS, embodying specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea. LIFE ON BORDER IS NO VACATION

Civilian Soldiers are Working Harder Than They Ever Did Before and There's Reason.

DAY STARTS AT 5:30 O'CLOCK

They All Hate The Afternoon Drill Which Comes in Heat of Day—Was Hard at First

BY WEBB MILLER.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
El Paso, Texas, Oct. 2.—It is not a vacation—this job of being a national guardsman down on the border. No matter what their occupation in civil life, the civilian soldiers are now working harder than they ever worked before. And they are doing it cheerfully.

Here is a guardsman's day, if he belongs to the cavalry or artillery. The infantry varies little except there is no horse to care for.

At 5:30 the "guardie" rolls out of his cot—if he has one—to the shrilling of the bugle. After dressing and washing, he has thirty minutes to feed, water and curry his horse and "police" the company streets. Policing is only a sweeter name for the work done at home by the "whitewings."

At 6 o'clock the bugler blows the most popular noise on the border—the mess call for breakfast. Then more policing and tidying up of tents. About 7 o'clock attention is turned to the stables and further policing ensues for an hour.

By this time the sun is blazing and the temperature is climbing. The real work of the day begins. From 8 until noon the practical work of making citizens into soldiers goes on out on the sun-baked plains back of the huge encampment. The drilling covers every possible activity of a soldier. It is man's work every minute of it.

Sometimes the morning drills are replaced by a six-mile hike out into the desert. Again the horses have to be brushed, watered and fed before dinner. The noon mess-call sounds at 12 o'clock.

From 1 to 3 o'clock is fatigue—or the rest period. It is utilized for officers and non-commissioned officers school and to instruct the men in some of the fine points in the care of guns and equipment. At 3 o'clock there is another drill period.

It is the hottest part of the day. Fresh from factory and office this is most galling work on the men.

The afternoon drill period is responsible for the song entitled "oh we'll re-enlist—like hell we will," a favorite of the civilian-soldiers in their tents at night.

About 4:30 "stables" sounds and the horses must be cared for again. The evening meal comes at 5:30. After that there is another short drill at "retreat" and an inspection, and "guardie" has nothing to do until tomorrow, except be in his tent by 11 o'clock when taps sound.

Medical inspection has been going on in some parts of the state for sometime but this is the first time the general state wide order was in effect.

Mr. Barnard today stated that the ruling will be enforced to the limit. Sufficient sanction is provided by the order to make employers comply with its terms, in the opinion of health authorities. In the event that persons are not examined by medical authorities, their establish-

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind.—A hearing on the proposed 5 per cent increase in freight rates on Indiana railroads between the shippers and carriers was started today. TO GET PAY WHILE ON DUTY.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—Firemen of Indianapolis will get their pay when they are away from duty because of illness after today, without their fellow firemen being compelled to work for them.

In the past, when one of the men was sick, in order that he might draw his pay, other firemen had to work on their day off.

In the future all that will be necessary for them to get their regular wages will be a certificate of illness.

KEEP YOUNG

People with bad backs and weak kidneys are apt to feel old at sixty. Many old folks say Doan's Kidney Pills help them keep young. Here's a Rushville case:

A. M. Younger, retired farmer, 528 W. Tenth St., Rushville, says: "I have been using Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for about ten years and they have done me good. When a man gets as old as I, he is bound to have more or less trouble with the kidneys. At times I have a dull ache across the small of my back and it gets weak and lame. Then the kidney secretions are too frequent in passage, causing me to get up at night. Every time I have been this way, I have procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson's Drug Store, and they never fail to relieve me in a short time."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Younger uses. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

THE YUKON A MIGHTY RIVER.

This Wonderful Stream Is Navigable For Some 2,500 Miles.

Describing the great Yukon river, Harry A. Auer in his book, "Camp Fires in the Yukon," says:

The northwest angle of the western hemisphere stretches into the Pacific ocean toward Asia, forming the United States territory of Alaska, well termed a nation's treasure house. Separated from Alaska on the east by only the imaginary boundary of the one hundred and forty-first meridian of longitude lies a land of romance and somewhat of mystery—the Yukon.

Within this Yukon territory there flows a remarkable and mighty stream, the Yukon river, which not only furnished the name to this domain, but, with its tributary streams, constitutes practically the only artery of commerce, development and civilization within the territorial boundaries.

Rising within fifteen miles of the Pacific ocean at Dyea inlet, on the southern boundary of the country, the Yukon tears and rips its irresistible way north by west about 1,000 miles, where it crosses the arctic circle and, turning westward, flows more than 1,200 miles through the middle of Alaska until it loses itself in the icy waters of the Pacific.

Peculiar among rivers is the extent of its navigability, for steamboat navigation begins at Lake Bennett, not quite forty miles north of Dyea pass, where rise the streams that feed the waters of the lake. From the head of navigation—and I refer to steamboat navigation—to the outlet of the river in Bering sea the distance is approximately 2,500 miles, over which large size steamers operate all summer, excepting three and a half miles at the canyon and rapids, where the steamboats could run downstream, but by reason of the currents it would be impossible to get them upstream.

And this navigability over so much of its course seems to be characteristic not only of the main artery of the Yukon, but holds as to its tributary streams, as the Tahkini, the Teslin, the Pelly, Stewart, Tanana, Koyukuk, Porcupine and the White rivers are navigable for very considerable distances by the large flat bottomed steamboats of the Mississippi type.

WAR INCREASES PATRONAGE

Thousands Use Documents For Business Research—Foreign Newspapers Popular—10,384,579 Books Borrowed During the Last Twelve Months, Not Counting Those Read in Building.

The New York Public Library now leads the world in number of readers, according to the annual report for 1915. The large increase in the number of persons who use the library for research as well as for recreation has been due for the most part to the European war, according to E. H. Anderson, director.

As a result of the war the library has become an immense laboratory for scientific investigators, particularly those seeking information regarding new industries that have sprung up in this country. The report also says:

The newspapers are being consulted more than ever for statistics regarding the prices of securities and of merchandise. They are also being used by persons who wish to get first hand knowledge of the history of newspapers and of such subjects as advertising, headlines, cartoons and editorial articles. Writers of plays and short stories consult the older papers for local color. The war collection of newspapers from forty different European cities has been useful to newspaper reporters and a continuous source of interest to other readers. A test in December, 1915, showed the approximate daily average of persons entering the newspaper division to be 1,375.

There has been a lively interest in the printed material relating to the technical side of the European war, according to the report. "Investigators have been studying opportunities for new industries, notably in the coal tar and petroleum products. Students came to find the cost of producing potash in Germany, the French standard gauge for nails, the effect of alkali on concrete, a method for spinning asbestos, a description of canal boats used on the river Arno, dimensions of German heavy artillery, etc. These are merely representative questions, taken from a great number of inquiries."

Many Newspapers Read.

The report says the immediate interests of today appear to be in the reading rooms devoted to current periodicals and newspapers.

"The volume of work performed by the library," says the report, "and the number resorting to it show constant increase. The average number of readers is almost double the numbers using the British museum of London or the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris."

The number of books borrowed last year was 10,384,579, compared with 9,516,482 in 1914, and in the year 2,558,717 persons used the library rooms for study and reading.

There were 996,574 books and 312,853 pamphlets, a total of 1,309,437 pieces, in the reference department of the central library at the end of 1915. The circulation department, including the branch libraries, had 1,100,952 volumes. The total number of pieces in the library was 2,410,379.

Reviewing the work of the library, the trustees say: "All of this, it must be noted, has been accomplished without any corresponding increase in the invested funds of the corporation or in its income. The income for circulation is almost entirely derived from an appropriation by the city."

"We have been able to make our income and outgo balance only by cutting down expenditures for books and binding and by ruthlessly eliminating from our budget a variety of items for purposes which were strongly urged as desirable."

POSTAGE STAMPS LIGHTER.

German Dyes Exhausted in Washington, but Supply is Coming.

Even when one sticks on a postage stamp one faces a shortage in German dyes. This was admitted by Director Joseph E. Ralph of the bureau of engraving and printing when his attention was called to a statement in the North German Gazette that lack of German dyes had caused a change in the colors of some American postage stamps.

One billion stamps are printed by the bureau every month.

"It is true," said Mr. Ralph, "that the lack of German dyes has resulted in a slight change in the color of our stamps. The red two cent stamps are lighter. The eight cent stamp, which used to be olive green, is yellowish green. Slight color variations may be noted in other stamps, as we have been without German dyes for about eight months."

"We have been forced to use what you might call adulterated colors, either imported or domestic. These cost more and are not so good. I recently paid in New York $1 a pound for reds, whereas this color could be purchased a year ago for about 24 cents. The new dyes have only about one-fourth the coloring strength of the old."

"We expect to get in a shipment of German dyes within the next few weeks. Both England and Germany have agreed to let this shipment come through on the understanding that it is strictly for government use. When this is received the postage stamps will brighten up in appearance."

HER HUNDRED DOLLAR BILL.

It Was Money Hoarded and Yet It Was Money Flung Away.

In the American Magazine we read the following:

"Mrs. Davis came into possession of a $100 bill. Prizing this money because it was the first she ever earned, she kept the original bill in her possession, most of the time on her person. Only a short time before her death were her relatives aware that she still had the bill."

"When a little girl, nine years old, she deposited $10 in a savings bank and received a pass book. She carried this book with her for seventy-five years. Three weeks before her death she told her grandson she was curious to know if the bank was still doing business and what had become of her deposit. A letter giving the number of her pass book, the amount of the deposit and her maiden and present name was written. Just a week from the day the letter was posted a reply was received to the effect that the deposit, together with the accrued interest for seventy-five years, amounting in all to $325.63, was in the bank for Mrs. Davis.

"Had she deposited the $100 bill with a savings bank paying 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly the principal and interest would have amounted to the handsome sum of $601.89. The $100 bill would have earned for her five other $100 bills."

"Her investment at nine years of age multiplied itself for her thirty-one times. Her sentiment at the age of thirty-nine, persisted in for forty-five years, deprived her of many comforts in her old age which the $600 would have provided."

The Lutine Bell.

The Lutine bell that rings at Lloyd's comes from the crack French frigate which was captured by Admiral Duncan. In 1799 she was sent by London merchants with £1,175,000 on board to Hamburg, but was lost off the Texel. Lloyd's underwriters recovered £100,000 and an oak table, chair and bell, the latter of which is always kept in Lloyd's committee room and rung when an overdue ship arrives.—London Standard.

The British censorship is delaying the United States mails almost as annoyingly as Burleson's inefficiency.

A number of Rushville merchants, it was announced today, would give away merchandise to the value of more than a thousand dollars during next week when the Centennial, Home Coming and Fall Festival will be held here.Every business firm which has agreed to offer something as a special Centennial week gift, will have a box in its store where anyone may leave his or her name. Then during Centennial week there will be a drawing and the first name out of the box will be awarded the prize which that particular firm has offered.This plan means that the people of Rush county are to be the beneficiaries of the generosity of Rushville merchants. There are no strings whatever to the offer. Everything is absolutely free. A person does not have to make a purchase in order to "get your name in the pot." Anyone may have a chance at the more than a thousand dollars worth of gifts. The names of the firms and what they will give away will be announced tomorrow.The chairman of the old reli-ables committee announced today that there would be a full meeting of the committee Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the public library in the court house. It is most urgently requested that every member of the committee be present.The chairman of the committee stated today that the committee has received a lot of old reli-ables that are of great worth, but that the committee is short on firearms. Not

Amusements

The Gem will show the five reel drama "The Grip of Jealousy" for the program tonight. Louise Lovely is featured. It is said to be a play that will hold the interest of all and it has a good strong punch. Tomorrow, matinee and night the next installment of "Peg O' the Ring" will be shown.

The Princess offers the five reel feature "Sudden Riches" for the program tonight. Robert Warwick, Clara Whipple and Gerda Holmes are featured. It tells the story of a young man who is suddenly possessed of great wealth. It is given him for the purpose of ruining him. The story is a novel one and the acting is fine. Tomorrow, matinee and night "The Waters of Lethe" will be shown.

"The Unborn" is the title of a new five reel picture which will be the attraction at the Mystic Theater on Thursday, with Gertrude Bondhill, the well-known star, featured with a cast of unusual strength.

The story was written by George Eliot, Jr., and was produced in Colorado and New York City. It is a moral propaganda of unusual strength and yet embodies a tenderness of love and affection that makes for it a picture far out of the ordinary. If it is not a worn out, hackneyed theme discussed as it is a frank and delicate manner—birth control. There is a moral to "The Unborn," and yet it does not tire or bore. It holds the audience throughout the entire five reels of production. The story of this picture concerns Nancy Lee, a farmer's daughter, who meets a young man from the city while she is driving along a country road. This chance acquaintance ripens into love. Nancy, fascinated by her sweetheart, surrenders her affections unreserved.

Greenville, her lover, suddenly returns to the city and leaves Nancy. Shortly afterwards he marries a society debutante not because he loves her, but for the position, both socially and financially that she brings him.

The Unhappy Farmer

Ex-Secretary James Wilson has pointed out, in an able argument, how "the farmer will pay the freight" under the Wilson-Adamson railway wage-increase law; and now, from another source, comes information that Carranza, whom President Wilson has held up to admiration as a man "with whose high ideals all right thinking men the world over must sympathize," has turned his attention from shooting railway strikers on sight to holding up American farmers. Mr. Carranza does not believe it practicable to invade this country and levy tribute on the farmers personally, but he has accomplished his end by establishing a state monopoly which will take $20,000,000 out of the pockets of those American farmers who have to buy binding twine. A delegation representing the manufacturers of binding twine have laid the facts before Secretary Lansing, pointing out how American farmers are being mulcted by Carranza, and Secretary Lansing has had the nerve to tell the delegation that he will refer the matter to the New London Conference which, as Carranza has formally announced, is expressly prohibited from considering any of the internal affairs of Mex-

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, then Back hurts and Bladder bothers you.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LITTLE BITS OF INDIANA POLITICS

Now that Wilson and Marshall have the official word of their renomination, all they have to do is to sit around and wait for the sad news on Nov. 7.

Vice-President Marshall says he is the tail to the presidential kite. Alas, how many kites have been wrecked by a poorly constructed, ill-fitting, wobbling tail!

We have it from Vice President Marshall that the Democrats have waived their ancient views as to a tariff commission. Yes, indeed; they are willing to make any port in a storm. Next thing you know they will declare for protection!

In 1908, under a Republican administration, the per capita cost of maintaining the Boys School at Plainfield was $39.85 a year, and in 1915, under the present Democratic administration of Guy C. Hanna, it has jumped to $100.71 a year. The voters should know that this difference has gone into the pockets of "deserving Democrats" for salaries and wages!

The cost of real estate and rental in Indiana has steadily increased for several years. This is a serious problem, and is due, largely, to the fact that real estate is obliged, under the present laws, to bear an unjust proportion of the burden of taxation. This requires the small home owner to pay a larger proportionate share of taxes than wealthy bond holders, and requires the person who rents a home to pay an additional rent in order to make up the taxation for the landlords. Under the plan outlined by James P. Goodrich, Republican nominee for governor, this system will be changed, and the burden of taxation more equally distributed.

Rifles Turn Up

Despite President Wilson's idealization of Carranza at New London, and the solemn announcement of the War Department, after the Carranza affair, that when Carranza returned those troopers of the 10th Cavalry whom he had not shot he also returned their equipment as well, the highly interesting fact has now come to light that in a recent skirmish between United States troops and Carranzistas who were raiding American territory one of the rifles captured by the Americans bears the U. S. Arsenal stamp and figures "K 10." These show, of course, that the rifle was one captured from the 10th Cavalry; that when Carranza asserted that he had returned all the equipment captured at Carrizal he did not tell the truth—or that when the War Department announced that all the equipment had been returned it was pursuing that policy of "pitiless publicity" which means "adroitly deceiving the American people."

The great street car strike, which threatened to tie up all New York transportation and involve all allied, organized trades, has apparently proved a failure. This seems to be due in large measure, to the revolution of popular feeling which has resulted from President Wilson's action with regard to the railway wage controversy. The labor leaders, doubtless wisely, preceived that popular sentiment, formerly with the employees, had turned against them, and the calling off of the strike is believed to be only a matter of a few days.

A CONTEST OF CHARACTER, NOT OF WEASEL WORDS

Cardinal Question In This Campaign Is Whether the People Want in the White House a Phrase-Maker or a Man Who Backs Words With Deeds.

Woodrow Wilson excels in the artistry of politics beyond the capacity of Charles Evans Hughes to compete.

Were the current campaign a game of professional politics instead of a contest of character between two candidates for the highest office in the gift of the people Mr. Wilson would walk away with the prize next November. All his life he has made a study of form—first of literary form—and latterly of political form. In the first period he mastered a style peculiarly his own and peculiarly characteristic.

The study of words and their multiplicity of meaning always fascinates him, so much that a Princeton classmate recently said of him, "Tommy has lived with words so long he thinks they are real things."

Thence comes his collection of what Theodore Roosevelt's Maine guide calls "weasel words."

That is—"he can take a word and weasel it around and suck the meaning out of it like a weasel sucks an egg, until it don't mean anything at all, no matter what it sounds like it means."

Thence came also the series of catch phrases, so fascinating in sound, so false in suggestion; so easy to read, so hard to understand. So it is that he is able to be on all sides of every public question while covering his circuitous course with a flow of words that roll as easily from his pen as a brook through the meadow. It is his artfulness in the use of words that enables him to pose as "an amateur in politics" while playing the game with the skill of a professional.

Whatever his ineptitude in other respects, he is easily first among presidents in the artistry of politics, and he would win next November were that the test.

Compare the williness of Mr. Wilson with the straightforwardness of Mr. Hughes. Compare the smooth style of the one with the rugged diction of the other. The one is as complex in the use of words as the other is simple. It is a case of sonorosity versus strength.

Mr. Hughes is depending upon the strategy of straightforwardness and the strength of sincerity; upon the force of facts instead of upon the fiction of a phrase, to win his case before the jury of the nation. His appeal is to the head and not the ear of the people; to their intelligence and not to their emotion; to their heroic side and not to their hysterical side. It is an appeal to the courage of the country and not to its cowardice. Mr. Hughes could not if he would perform in a year the political tricks that Mr. Wilson can do in a day. The question today is whether the people want in the White House for the next four years a phrase maker or a history maker, a man of many sayings or a man who backs his words with deeds.

There is a fundamental difference between the two candidates which marks the line of cleavage in this extraordinary campaign—"Hughes means what he says."

You will find, in all probability, an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding between the crevices. YOUR DENTIFRICE does not FULLY CLEAN! Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the recently discovered formula of a dental specialist, is two-fold in its action. First, it REALLY CLEANS, embodying specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea. Yet it is perfectly safe, containing neither injurious chemicals nor hard grit.

Avoid Pyorrhea and decay. Get Senreco from your dealer today. In large tubes, 25c. Send 4c to Senreco, 304 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, for liberal-sized trial package.

LIFE ON BORDER IS NO VACATION

Civilian Soldiers are Working Harder Than They Ever Did Before and There's Reason.

DAY STARTS AT 5:30 O'CLOCK

They All Hate The Afternoon Drill Which Comes in Heat of Day—Was Hard at First

BY WEBB MILLER.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 2.—It is not a vacation—this job of being a national guardsman down on the border. No matter what their occupation in civil life, the civilian soldiers are now working harder than they ever worked before. And they are doing it cheerfully.

Here is a guardsman's day, if he belongs to the cavalry or artillery. The infantry varies little except there is no horse to care for.

At 5:30 the "guardie" rolls out of his cot—if he has one—to the shrilling of the bugle. After dressing and washing, he has thirty minutes to feed, water and curry his horse and "police" the company streets. Policing is only a sweater name for the work done at home by the "whitewings."

At 6 o'clock the bugler blows the most popular noise on the border—the mess call for breakfast. Then more policing and tidying up of tents. About 7 o'clock attention is turned to the stables and further policing ensues for an hour.

By this time the sun is blazing and the temperature is climbing. The real work of the day begins. From 8 until noon the practical work of making citizens into soldiers goes on out on the sun-baked plains back of the huge encampment. The drilling covers every possible activity of a soldier. It is man's work—every minute of it.

Sometimes the morning drills are replaced by a six-mile hike out into the desert. Again the horses have to be brushed, watered and fed before dinner. The noon mess-call sounds at 12 o'clock.

From 1 to 3 o'clock is fatigue—or the rest period. It is utilized for officers and non-commissioned officers school and to instruct the men in some of the fine points in the care of guns and equipment. At 3 o'clock there is another drill period.

It is the hottest part of the day. Fresh from factory and office this is most galling work on the men.

The afternoon drill period is responsible for the song entitled, "oh we'll re-enlist—like hell we will," a favorite of the civilian-soldiers in their tents at night.

About 4:30 "stables" sounds and the horses must be cured for again. The evening meal comes at 5:30. After that there is another short drill at "retreat" and an inspection, and "guardie" has nothing to do until tomorrow, except be in his tent by 11 o'clock when taps sound.

ORDER OF BARNARD EFFECTIVE TODAY

State Food Commissioner Declares Persons Handling Food Must be Examined.

MUST GET CERTIFICATES

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 2.—The order of H. E. Barnard of the state dairy and food commission making it compulsory for all persons employed in food handling establishments in Indiana to undergo a medical examination was in effect today.

Medical inspection has been going on in some parts of the state for sometime but this is the first time the general state wide order was in effect.

Mr. Barnard today stated that the ruling will be enforced to the limit.

Sufficient sanction is provided by the order to make employers comply with its terms, in the opinion of health authorities. In the event that persons are not examined by medical authorities, their establish-

MCCULLOUGH CABIN IS LOCATED IN RUSH

Indianapolis—William Miller, of Darlington, claims the belt for gross amount of money received for one load of hogs. For 395 hogs, he received $23,204.50.

Rushville, Ind. Sept. 30, 1916.

Editor of Republican,

In your paper of this date I noticed a statement of no one knowing of a log cabin near Milroy where Jacob S. McCullough lived.

Well the cabin stands one mile and a quarter south of John H. McCorkle corner near the Summerville school house back a little way from the road on the farm owned now by Carry Patton, on the west side of the road.

My father, Isaac Miller, went to housekeeping in it forty-seven years ago. The well in question is about twenty or thirty feet northwest of the house. I have thrashed wheat within twenty feet of that well but as it was used only for stock, and not much for that we never drank from it then. That was in 1900, 1901, 1902, and 1903. My sister was born in that house (Mrs. Atwell Boling) and my grandfather had the farm rented and lived there fifty eight or nine years ago.

The road used to angle and pass just in front of the house but has been changed and now goes straight over to the Lawson road. The barn has been kept in repairs and was used for machinery. Mr. Jacob S. McCullough was in the civil war and I think was in the 37th Indiana Volunteers.

Mr. Holden speaks of one Mr. McCullough but it isn't the one who lived in Anderson township.

The farm is the farm better known as the old Crawford home-stead or later by the Glass farm.

Yours truly.

JOSEPH W. MILLER.

KEEP YOUNG

People with bad backs and weak kidneys are apt to feel old at sixty. Many old folks say Doan's Kidney Pills help them keep young. Here's a Rushville case:

A. M. Younger, retired farmer, 828 W. Tenth St., Rushville, says: "I have been using Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for about ten years and they have done me good. When a man gets as old as I, he is bound to have more or less trouble with the kidneys. At times I have a dull ache across the small of my back and it gets weak and lame. Then the kidney secretions are too frequent in passage, causing me to get up at night. Every time I have been this way, I have procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson's Drug Store, and they never fail to relieve me in a short time."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Younger uses. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

THE YUKON A MIGHTY RIVER.

This Wonderful Stream Is Navigable for Some 2,500 Miles.

Describing the great Yukon River, Harry A. Auer in his book, "Camp Fires in the Yukon," says:

The northwest angle of the western hemisphere stretches into the Pacific ocean toward Asia, forming the United States territory of Alaska, well termed a nation's treasure house. Separated from Alaska on the east by only the imaginary boundary of one hundred and forty-first meridian of longitude lies land of romance and somewhat of mystery—the Yukon.

Within this Yukon territory there flows a remarkable and mighty stream, the Yukon river, which not only furnished the name to this domain, but, with its tributary streams, constitutes practically the only artery of commerce, development and civilization within the territorial boundaries.

Rising within fifteen miles of the Pacific ocean at Dyea inlet, on the southern boundary of the country, the Yukon tears and rips its irresistible way north by west about 1,000 miles, where it crosses the arctic circle and, turning westward, flows more than 1,200 miles through the middle of Alaska until it loses itself in the icy waters of the Pacific.

Peculiar among rivers is the extent of its navigability, for steamboat navigation begins at Lake Bennett, not quite forty miles north of Dyea pass, where rise the streams that feed the waters of the lake. From the head of navigation—and I refer to steamboat navigation—to the outlet of the river in Bering sea the distance is approximately 2,500 miles, over which large size steamers operate all summer, excepting three and a half miles at the canyon and rapids, where the steamboats could run downstream, but by reason of the currents it would be impossible to get them upstream.

And this navigability over so much of its course seems to be characteristic not only of the main artery of the Yukon, but holds as to its tributary streams, as the Tukkin, the Teslin, the Pelly, Stewart, Tanana, Koyukuk, Porcupine and the White rivers are navigable for very considerable distances by the large flat bottomed steamboats of the Mississippi type.

"There has been a lively interest in the printed material relating to the technical side of the European war," according to the report. "Investigators have been studying opportunities for new industries, notably in the coal tar and petroleum products. Students came to find the cost of producing potash in Germany, the French standard gauge for nails, the effect of alkali on concrete, a method for spinning asbestos, a description of canal boats used on the river Arno, dimensions of German heavy artillery, etc. These are merely representative questions, taken from a great number of inquiries."

Many Newspapers Read.

The report says the immediate interests of today appear to be in the reading rooms devoted to current periodicals and newspapers.

"The volume of work performed by the library," says the report, "and the number resorting to it show constant increase. The average number of readers is almost double the numbers using the British museum of London or the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris."

The number of books borrowed last year was 10,384,579, compared with 9,510,482 in 1914, and in the year 2,558,717 persons used the library rooms for study and reading.

There were 996,574 books and 312,553 pamphlets, a total of 1,300,437 pieces, in the reference department of the central library at the end of 1915. The circulation department, including the branch libraries, had 1,100,952 volumes. The total number of pieces in the library was 2,410,379.

Reviewing the work of the library, the trustees say: "All of this, it must be noted, has been accomplished without any corresponding increase in the invested funds of the corporation or in its income. The income for circulation is almost entirely derived from an appropriation by the city."

"We have been able to make our income and outgo balance only by cutting down expenditures for books and binding and by ruthlessly eliminating from our budget a variety of items for purposes which were strongly urged as desirable."

POSTAGE STAMPS LIGHTER.

German Dyes Exhausted in Washington, but Supply Is Coming.

Even when one sticks on postage stamp one faces a shortage in German dyes. This was admitted by Director Joseph E. Ralph of the bureau of engraving and printing when his attention was called to a statement in the North German Gazette that lack of German dyes had caused a change in the colors of some American postage stamps.

One billion stamps are printed by the bureau every month.

"It is true," said Mr. Ralph, "that the lack of German dyes has resulted in a slight change in the color of our stamps. The red two cent stamps are lighter. The eight cent stamp, which used to be olive green, is yellowish green. Slight color variations may be noted in other stamps, as we have been without German dyes for about eight months."

"We have been forced to use what you might call adulterated colors, either imported or domestic. These cost more and are not so good. I recently paid in New York $1 a pound for 'reds,' whereas this color could be purchased a year ago for about 24 cents. The new dyes have only about one-fourth the coloring strength of the old."

"We expect to get in a shipment of German dyes within the next few weeks. Both England and Germany have agreed to let this shipment come through on the understanding that it is strictly for government use. When this is received the postage stamps will brighten up in appearance."

WAR INCREASES PATRONAGE

Thousands Use Documents For Business Research—Foreign Newspapers Popular—10,384,579 Books Borrowed During the Last Twelve Months, Not Counting Those Read in Building.

The New York Public Library now leads the world in number of readers, according to the annual report for 1915. The large increase in the number of persons who use the library for research as well as for recreation has been due for the most part to the European war, according to E. H. Anderson, director.

As a result of the war the library has become an immense laboratory for scientific investigators, particularly those seeking information regarding new industries that have sprung up in this country. The report also says:

The newspapers are being consulted more than ever for statistics regarding the prices of securities and of merchandise. They are also being used by persons who wish to get first hand knowledge of the history of newspapers and of such subjects as advertising, headlines, cartoons and editorial articles. Writers of plays and short stories consult the older papers for local color. The war collection of newspapers from forty different European cities has been useful to newspaper reporters and a continuous source of interest to other readers. A test in December, 1915, showed the approximate daily average of persons entering the newsroom division to be 1,323.

"There has been a lively interest in the printed material relating to the technical side of the European war," according to the report. "Investigators have been studying opportunities for new industries, notably in the coal tar and petroleum products. Students came to find the cost of producing potash in Germany, the French standard gauge for nails, the effect of alkali on concrete, a method for spinning asbestos, a description of canal boats used on the river Arno, dimensions of German heavy artillery, etc. These are merely representative questions, taken from a great number of inquiries."

HER HUNDRED DOLLAR BILL

It Was Money Hoarded and Yet It Was Money Flung Away.

In the American Magazine we read the following:

"Mrs. Davis came into possession of a $100 bill. Prizing this money because it was the first she ever earned, she kept the original bill in her possession, most of the time on her person. Only a short time before her death were her relatives aware that she still had the bill.

"When a little girl, nine years old, she deposited $10 in a savings bank and received a pass book. She carried this book with her for seventy-five years. Three weeks before her death she told her grandson she was curious to know if the bank was still doing business and what had become of her deposit. A letter giving the number of her pass book, the amount of the deposit and her maiden and present name was written. Just a week from the day the letter was posted a reply was received to the effect that the deposit, together with the accrued interest for seventy-five years, amounting in all to $325.65, was in the bank for Mrs. Davis.

"Had she deposited the $100 bill with a savings bank paying 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly the principal and interest would have amounted to the handsome sum of $601.89. The $100 bill would have earned for her five other $100 bills."

"Her investment at nine years of age multiplied itself for her thirty-one times. Her sentiment, at the age of thirty-nine, persisted in for forty-five years, deprived her of many comforts in her old age which the $600 would have provided."

The Lutine Bell. The Lutine bell that rings at Lloyd's comes from the crack French frigate which was captured by Admiral Duncan. In 1789 she was sent by London merchants with £1,175,000 on board to Hamburg, but was lost off the Texel. Lloyd's underwriters recovered £100,000 and an oak table, chair and bell, the latter of which is always kept in Lloyd's committee room and rung when an overdue ship arrives. London Standard.

The British censorship is delaying the United States mail almost as annoying as Burleson's inefficiency.
